

Cheap Hotels in Barcelona are clustered in and around the Barri Gòtic. Party travelers should stay on the Las Ramblas where hotel rooms may be quite noisy. The Ramblas has been the favorite tourist mile for the past decades and certainly its attractions and good hotels are recommended.

However, be aware when you decide to book a hotel at the Ramblas. It is advisable to do so at least four weeks in advance. Some of the best hotels are fully booked months ahead. If you do arrive without a hotel reservation don't be surprised when you can't find the cheapest prices. Try the low price booking service at the local tourist office on Plaça de Catalunya when you desperately need accommodation on the same day.

Easy Online Hotel Booking // Cheap Hotels Barcelona

Of course every city in Spain has a center or areas with very high demand for accommodation, and so does Barcelona. Las Ramblas is the famous tourist shopping and walking mile in Barcelona. From Las Ramblas you can easily reach many of the most popular tourist attractions on foot. The area around Las Ramblas is well known as the most lively part of Barcelona and finding a cheap hotel there does not always guarantee quiet accommodation. After a stroll to Barcelona's tourist attractions, during the day you might want to enjoy its nightlife or perhaps look for a hotel not as close to Las Ramblas.

Cheap Hotels Madrid

Madrid is known for its attractions including museums like the El Prado. Madrid is a much larger city than Barcelona and hence the center is not as focused on one particular spot or street. The selection of cheap hotels in Madrid is enormous, yet there are big differences in what you can get back for your vacation money. Here, we present a small number of hotels including further details and experiences travelers gained from staying in those cheap establishments. Also try and search through the hotels.com special hotel deals and see what it offers you.